

Sunday Open Thread

Posted by Prof. Goose on March 12, 2006 - 9:29pm

Topic: Environment/Sustainability

If you need something to get you started in the OT, Michael Klare writes:

It's official: the era of resource wars is upon us. In a major London address, British Defense Secretary John Reid warned that global climate change and dwindling natural resources are combining to increase the likelihood of violent conflict over land, water and energy. Climate change, he indicated, "will make scarce resources, clean water, viable agricultural land even scarcer" -- and this will "make the emergence of violent conflict more rather than less likely."

Also, anyone else see Oil Crash?

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.