

Report comment spam here

Lately, TOD has been getting hit with a lot of comment spam. Many readers have been kind enough to email me with the spammers' names so I can delete their accounts and their comments.

Let's try something new. From now on, if you see comment spam, instead of emailing me, just leave a comment in this thread. The only thing you need to leave is a link to the spammers' profile. For example, if there was an offender named 'Spammer', then your comment would say

<http://www.theoil drum.com/user/Spammer>

There is now a handy link to this thread in the navigation menu at the top of the main page.

For each spammer you find, you will be awarded three gold stars and four brownie points.

This is a temporary measure until we develop a more comprehensive solution to the problem.
