

Request for Drupal help

Posted by Super G on October 24, 2006 - 9:20pm

Topic: Site news

Here's a post for the web developer types out there. The rest of you can tune out.

[Update by Super G on 10/24/06 at 9:56 PM EDT] This is not an open thread. Any off topic comments will be deleted.

---

Recently I've been exploring the possibility of moving The Oil Drum from Scoop to Drupal. I've gotten pretty far with the Drupal configuration, but there's one thing I'm stuck on—implementing DrumBeat. It's a pretty simple concept—automatically post a story at the same time everyday—but it seems to me that I can't implement it without doing a lot of work.

I posted on the Drupal forum, but didn't find what I was looking for. I think that the schedule module might be useful, but it lacks documentation. Anyway I'm not sure I have the PHP chops to write my own module. Are there any Drupal hackers out there that have advice or are willing to help out?

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.