

World Changing Comes to NYC

Posted by Glenn on November 1, 2006 - 6:02pm in The Oil Drum: Local

Topic: Miscellaneous

Tags: new york city, worldchanging [list all tags]

One of my favorite websites, Worldchanging is building out it's local sites. When I'm not here at TOD NYC, Upper Green Side or Streetsblog I will no doubt be over at Worldchanging:NYC. Over there you will see how the environmental/sustainability movement has changed from a bunch of hippies on an organic farm (not that there's anything wrong with that, if that's your thing) to a modern, sustainable design-oriented folks that leverage all the resource saving environmental advantages of the dense urban environment and modern technology. Here is there motto:

Worldchanging was founded on the idea that real solutions already exist for building the future we want. it's just a matter of grabbing hold and getting moving.

They are also going to be here a few times this month promoting their new book.

Here are the details:

November 2nd: NEW YORK - New York Launch Party at The Magician

5:30pm

118 Rivington St

rsvp: [worldchangingny\[at\]gmail.com](mailto:worldchangingny@gmail.com)

November 21st: NEW YORK - Event with the Buckminster Fuller Institute

6:30-9:00 (presentations begin at 7:15)

15 Nassau St. corner of Pine St.

RSVP: [WorldchangingBFI\[at\]gmail.com](mailto:WorldchangingBFI[at]gmail.com)

December 12th: NEW YORK - Greendrinks / Worldchanging Holiday Party

M1-5

7-11pm

52 Walker Street

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.