The first 30 minutes of the show is will be a review and discussion of the main events in the media and the world the last several days. The call-in number is 646-915-8560. (please, do remember that this is a show to discuss generalities on the topic, not an in-depth discussion of the complexities of the Hubbert Linearization, eh?). Stuart will be in the second segment, which will start about a half an hour in (7:30ish). They will discuss peak oil and global energy policy.

The show will run for an hour. The show will be live, from 7:00-8:00PM Eastern. An archived version of the show will be available approximately 30 minutes after the show ends.
