

Moving Ideas

Posted by Prof. Goose on August 10, 2005 - 2:31pm

(I'm traveling...and I am trying to post from my new crackberry. If this goes badly, HO, can you please edit for me? Thanks.)

This is a public service announcement. I received an email from the folks at Moving Ideas about a blog conference they are having tomorrow, which I am now going to try to post. (And, yes, as noted above, I wanted to see if I could actually post from this modern technological wonder.)

Hi Prof. Goose,

I work at the Moving Ideas Network (www.movingideas.org), a nonprofit network of public policy and advocacy organizations (and a project of The American Prospect magazine). I wanted to let you know about an online discussion taking place tomorrow with authors of "The Soul of Environmentalism".

I thought readers of The Oil Drum might be interested to learn more about it. Feel free to post about the chat or ask questions today or tomorrow at <http://www.movingideas.org/chat/Soul/Soul.php>.

Technorati Tags: peak oil, oil

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.