NOTE: Our Scoop site is offline. We have rerouted traffic here to our old blogger site for now, and we're trying to figure out how to get the content back over here as fast as we can. Of course, if we could get to the new site, that wouldn't be that hard...

ISP problem? DNS problem? Hacked? We don't know.

Also, please continue to access this site with [www.theoil drum.com](http://www.theoil drum.com); when the Scoop site is fixed, you'll automatically know.

2:54 EDT: Still no idea what the heck is going on...we appreciate any ideas. Our ISP, to this point, has been unresponsive. We are starting to come to the conclusion that we surpassed our bandwidth limits with all of the hits we got from our Katrina coverage.

(If that is the case, our ISP would have at least warned us though, right?)

(We really appreciate everyone's technical suggestions, but it would be most helpful if you could send them directly to Super G at {support AT theoil drum DOT com}.)

Consider this an open comment thread until we get things back up and running...
