

Converging Environmental Crises Teach-In

Posted by Prof. Goose on April 10, 2008 - 12:00pm

Topic: Site news

The Ohio State University Department of Public Health is sponsoring a web-based teach-in today, which they would like TOD readers to help publicize.

[Converging Environmental Crises:
A Teach-In on Energy, Climate Change, Water, Agriculture and Population](#)

Thursday, April 10, 2008

11:00am to 4:00pm EDT

http://sg60.oar.net/Environmental_Crises/

It's free!! Gail's talk is up already at the link above, as are (or will be) talks by Friends of TOD Rep Roscoe Bartlett, Dan Bednarz, Jason Bradford and Bill Catton. There is also a live link to the teach-in as well. If you are having difficulty connecting, the last page of this PDF gives some troubleshooting tips. It doesn't work with Safari, and you cannot be using pop-up blocker, among other things. It may not work if you are behind a firewall.

More information about the Teach-in at this link: <http://www.theoil Drum.com/node/3781>

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.