Here's today's news clippings.

Today, I want you to notice how LITTLE the American MSM is paying attention to the peak oil issue and the policy decisions that are being based on what's coming. (Note also all of the links to New Zealand, Australia, and the like! (that's why I left the addresses exposed...)). Sure there have been some mentions lately, but actually relating peak oil to policy like these piece do...? Nope.

Corporate fucking poser-whores! Hey MSM, get off your asses and do something. Maybe even learn about something new...

(sorry, had to let that out, it's been festering all morning...)

To begin with, Bayard Randel has a couple of nice catches...
