Only a few places still remain for those who want to take part in the informal Oil Drum - ASPO meeting that is being organized in Italy in June of this year. Oil Drum readers are welcome to join the discussion with Oil Drum staff and ASPO members. This meeting, to take place on 26, 27 & 28 June in Italy at the "Alcatraz free University" near Perugia, will have a spontaneous self-organized program according to the 'bar camp' rules. People can bring any topic to the informal meeting that they want to discuss. The only limitation being the wide 'systems boundary', so that issues should be directly or indirectly related to the heart of ASPO & The Oil Drum, discussions about energy and our future.

In order to reserve a place, please send a message to Rembrandt Koppelaar contact@peakoil.nl also in copy to Ugo Bardi (ugo.bardi@unifi.it). Upon approval of your application a registration form will be sent with room and payment details.

More information on the meeting, costs, and traveling to Italy can be found below the fold

On the evening of each day, beginning on the afternoon of the 26th, a loose schedule will be made for the following day of all those interested in presenting or hosting a discussion on certain topics. Participants can work out ideas and papers beforehand or give talks on the fly. Everyone is free to join sessions to their liking or make individual small group appointments if wanted to serve a discussion better. This way of hosting a discussion gives the opportunity to iterate and integrate as the meeting evolves. There will thus be no rigid program and no conference fee except for the lodging and board costs.

Location of the meeting

Alcatraz University from the Italian hillside

The meeting will take place at Libera Università di Alcatraz (Alcatraz University) near Perugia, in Italy. It is a fantastically beautiful place in the Italian hills between Rome and Florence. Owned by Mr. Iacopo Fo, the son of the Nobel prize in literature Dario Fo, it is a structure built specifically to hold meetings; being self-contained with several meeting rooms providing the possibility to room and board about 50 people. They will host the meeting for free, provided that attendees pay the fees for room and board.

Subscription and payment of lodging

To maintain a creative meeting of the minds, as well as due to limitation of the venue, attendance will be limited to about 50 people. Costs of full board including food is 63 euro per day for a total of 189 euro for the three days and nights. We also ask a 10 euro fee to arrange a taxi service from Perugia train station to the meeting site at Alcatraz. Total costs are hence 199 euro. Subscriptions will be processed on a first come, first served basis. The final deadline for subscription is May 15th.

In order to book, please send a message to Rembrandt Koppelaar contact at peakoil.nl also in copy to Ugo Bardi (ugo.bardi@unifi.it).
