

in case you're too lazy to read...or if you want to point someone to a good review...

Posted by Prof. Goose on January 7, 2006 - 1:06pm

Topic: Supply/Production

Tags: albert bartlett, book review, matthew simmons [list all tags]

Here's three peak oil-related book reviews posted on the American Physical Society's website, the first of which is Al Bartlett's review of Matt Simmons' Twilight... (link)

Remember, we discussed Dr. Bartlett's lecture on the exponential function re: population and peak oil here: (link)

The lecture itself can be found over at GPM now (because FTD is no more, sadly): (link).

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.